Felt, in commerce; (§ 1, def. 1.) is a sort of stuff deriving all its consistence merely from being fulled, or wrought with lees and size, without either spinning or weaving. Felt is made either of wood alone, or of wool and hair. Thins of French manufacture, 3½ yards long, and 1½ broad, for cloaks, pay each 2 l. 14 s. 13 d., on importation; and draw-back 1 l. 12 s. 3 d. on exporting them again.

* To Felt. v. a. [from the noun.] To unite without weaving.—The same wool one man felts into a hat, another weaves it into cloth, another into kersey. Hale's Origin of Monnied.
