DIRECTIONS

For Making Cluny and Torchon Laces.

The fundamental principle of the making of Cluny and Torchon laces lies in the crossing of the bobbins in a series of points.

The point is made with four bobbins. For example, as in illustration, the bobbins being wound with the thread, tied in pairs, and the threads hung over pins placed in the cushion roll, the two bobbins at right used with right hand and the two at left with left hand, pass the 2\textsuperscript{d} bobbin over the 3\textsuperscript{d}, as in second figure, then the 4\textsuperscript{th} over the 2\textsuperscript{d}, and the 3\textsuperscript{d} over the 1\textsuperscript{st}, as in third figure—this constitutes a half point, repeated, it becomes a point.

The half point, followed by the crossing of the two middle bobbins from left to right, that is, as in the third figure, the 1\textsuperscript{st} over the 4\textsuperscript{th}, constitutes the point matte.

A tresse is a succession of points.
Point grille is a succession of half points, from right to left or left to right, the last two bobbins of the grille preceding being used with the two following, for the next grille. For example,

![Diagram of grille bobbins] make a half point with the 1\textsuperscript{st} and 2\textsuperscript{d} pairs of Fig. 1, then with the 2\textsuperscript{d} pair of Fig. 1, and the 3\textsuperscript{d} pair, Fig. 2, make a half point; next, a half point with the 3\textsuperscript{d} and 4\textsuperscript{th} pairs, Fig. 2; then a half point with the 4\textsuperscript{th} pair, Fig. 2, and the 5\textsuperscript{th} pair, Fig. 3; then a half point, 5\textsuperscript{th} and 6\textsuperscript{th} pairs of Fig. 3, and so on. When the grille comes on a selvage edge, twist the outer pair once from right to left to form a firmer finish.

Point d' esprit:—In this "motif," made with two pairs of bobbins always, the outer bobbin of the 1\textsuperscript{st} pair at the right and the outer bobbin of the pair at the left are firmly grasped, the one with the right hand and the other with the left, holding the left-hand bobbin with the three last fingers so that the thumb and first finger may be free for the movement of the 2\textsuperscript{d} bobbin, the inner one of the left-hand pair, which is interlaced about the others, remaining stationary, the thread of the two outer bobbins tightly drawn while the inner bobbin of the right hand pair simply hangs by its own weight and should be pulled down now and then as the figure is being made, as this aids in shaping the oval and smoothing the interlacing thread.
With the thumb and first finger of the left hand pass the 2d bobbin over the 3d, pushing it under the bobbin held by the right hand, with the thumb of the right hand, and then with a twist of the fingers tossing it over the bobbin, as it falls into place passing with the thumb and fingers of the left hand the inner bobbin over it and tossing it over the left hand bobbin, whence it rolls under and into its original place by its own weight; repeat the series of movements continuously, not letting go of the outer bobbins, or the figure will be destroyed, for these outer bobbins shape the oval, and as the figure broadens in the middle should be spread farther apart, narrowing to the end, where the right-hand bobbin is dropped, as the threads of the left-hand bobbin and that which has interlaced are drawn together and tied in a knot.

Diagram illustrating positions of interlacing bobbin in point d'esprit.

The picot is made by putting the pin under the thread of the inner bobbin of pair nearest picot edge, holding bob-bin in left hand, and bringing the pin up over the thread which thus encircles it and is then drawn tightly down, being held by pin placed in dot indicating picot. Continue to keep thread which has formed picot firmly drawn down until well woven in.

The barley grain, or spider, as it is often called, is made with 8 or more bobbins, according to the design; in its simple form of 4 pairs of bobbins, it is made as follows: Each pair is twisted from right to left to form the rays, then a point matte with the 2\textsuperscript{d} and 3\textsuperscript{d} pairs is made, another point matte with the 1\textsuperscript{st} and 2\textsuperscript{d} pairs, and a third point matte with the 3\textsuperscript{d} and 4\textsuperscript{th} pairs; a pin is now placed in the middle, followed by point matte with the two inner pairs, point matte with the 1\textsuperscript{st} and 2\textsuperscript{d} pairs, point matte with the 3\textsuperscript{d} and 4\textsuperscript{th} pairs, and a final point matte with the 2\textsuperscript{d} and 3\textsuperscript{d} pairs, the pairs being then twisted for the outgoing rays as before. A more complicated form with 6 pairs of bobbins is practically illustrated in pattern No. 9.
The Cords and their Crossings.

A cord of 2 (bobbins):—The two bobbins of a pair twisted from right to left.

A cord of 4:—A tresse.

A cord of 6:—A point with the two pairs at the right, then a point with the two at the left, the pair in the middle being thus used twice. Repeat.

A cord of 8:—Regard each pair as a single bobbin and make a tresse as in cord of 4.

Crossing of the Cords.

Crossing of 2 cords of 2:—Make a point, and if a pin is required by the design place it after the half point is finished.

A cord of 2 with a cord of 4, or "point of 6" (this occurs very frequently throughout the work):—Consider each of the two pairs as a single bobbin and cross them with the two single bobbins in a simple point.

A cord of 2 with a cord of 6:—Make a point with the two pairs at the right and a second point with the two pairs at the left.

A cord of 2 with a cord of 8:—After the last point in the double tresse (see "cord of 8") on the one side, make a crossing as in the cord of 2 with cord of 4, or "point of 6," on the other, regarding each pair of the 8 cord as a single bobbin.

Crossing of 2 cords of 4 or "point of 8" (this is one of the most commonly met with in the work):—Consider each pair as a single bobbin and proceed as in an ordinary point.
A cord of 4 with a cord of 6:—With 4 pairs on one side make a "point of 8," then with two pairs just used and the pair remaining on the other side make a "point of 6."

A cord of 4 with a cord of 8:—A "point of 8" at one side, then leave two pairs and make a "point of 8" on the other.

2 cords of 6:—Putting aside one pair of bobbins, make a point with the 4 following pairs, a second point with the 4 pairs at the right, and a third point with the 4 at the left. For example: make a "point of 8" with the 2d, 3d, 4th and 5th pairs, a "point of 8" with the 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th pairs, and a point of 8 with the 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th pairs.

A cord of 6 with a cord of 8:—Laying aside 4 bobbins of the cord of 8, and 2 of the cord of 6, with the 8 of the middle make a point; then continue the cord of 8 on one side and the cord of 6 on the other.

2 cords of 8:—With the 4 pairs in the middle make a point as if for a third cord of 8.

A pin is "closed" when followed by the same point which preceded it. Any other point is particularly designated in the directions.

The Torchon is made by half points preceding and following the pins. To illustrate: a pattern may be drawn off from the following diagram: Pinning it about the cushion roll, hang ten pairs of bobbins upon a couple of pins inserted back of the numbers on the design; with the 2\textsuperscript{d} and 3\textsuperscript{d} pairs make a half point, put in a pin at dot 1 on design, "close" it with another half point; with the 1\textsuperscript{st} and 2\textsuperscript{d} pairs make another half point, put in a pin at 2 and "close"; 4\textsuperscript{th} and 5\textsuperscript{th} pairs, a half point, pin at 3, close; 3\textsuperscript{d} and 4\textsuperscript{th} pairs, a half point, pin at 4, close; 2\textsuperscript{d} and 3\textsuperscript{d} pairs, a half point, pin at 5, close; 1\textsuperscript{st} and 2\textsuperscript{d} pairs, half point, pin at 6, close; 6\textsuperscript{th} and 7\textsuperscript{th} pairs, half point, pin at 7, close; 5\textsuperscript{th} and 6\textsuperscript{th} pairs, half point, pin at 8, close; 4\textsuperscript{th} and 5\textsuperscript{th} pairs, half point, pin at 9, close; 3\textsuperscript{d} and 4\textsuperscript{th} pairs, half point, pin at 10, close; 2\textsuperscript{d} and 3\textsuperscript{d} pairs, half point, pin at 11, close; 1\textsuperscript{st} and 2\textsuperscript{d} pairs, half point, pin at 12, close; 8\textsuperscript{th} and 9\textsuperscript{th} pairs, half point, pin at 13, close; 7\textsuperscript{th} and 8\textsuperscript{th} pairs, half point, pin at 14, close; 6\textsuperscript{th} and 7\textsuperscript{th} pairs, half point, pin at 15, close; 6\textsuperscript{th} and 5\textsuperscript{th} pairs, half point, pin at 16, close; 5\textsuperscript{th} and 4\textsuperscript{th}, half point, pin at 17, close; 4\textsuperscript{th} and 3\textsuperscript{d}, half point, pin at 18, close; 3\textsuperscript{d} and 2\textsuperscript{d}, half point, pin at 19, close; 2\textsuperscript{d} and 1\textsuperscript{st}, half point, pin at 20, close; 10\textsuperscript{th} and 9\textsuperscript{th}, half point, pin at 21, close; 9th and 8th, half point, pin at 22, close; and so on.

In the Point de Dieppe, each pair of bobbins is twisted or crossed, twice, instead of once as in the Torchon; for example, in the Torchon, after the crossing of the 2d bobbin over the 3d, the 4th crosses over the 2d and the 3d over the 1st; in the Point de Dieppe, after the crossing of the 2d over the 3d, the 4th is crossed over the 2d, and the 3d over the 1st twice, before the pin is inserted, the point following or "closing," the pin being the same half point as in the Torchon. The same pattern may be used for working illustration of this as in Torchon.

In the Point de Tulle each pair of bobbins is twisted (crossed) 3 times, then the two middle bobbins crossed and the pin put in back of the two middle bobbins, no point "closing" it. Same diagram as for Torchon.

In the Brussels Point each pair of bobbins is twisted twice, a half point is made, the pin inserted and closed with 3 half points. Same diagram as for Torchon.

The "closed pin" requires the same diagram as the Torchon, and is simply the crossing of "2 cords of 2," a point instead of half point, preceding and following the pin, however.

Valenciennes is composed of "cords of 4," a series of 5 points between each insertion of the pin, the pin being placed in the middle of the 6\textsuperscript{th} point, differing, therefore, from the Torchon in the employment of the tresse in place of the "cord of 2."

How to Begin.

Wind the bobbins, leaving a few inches of thread in length to tie them together in pairs. Loop the thread around the head of bobbin to prevent unwinding, by holding bobbin in left hand while three fingers of right hand grasp end of thread as it passes up through palm to twist over and around the forefinger, the thumb then passing in under, and the hand turning to give the twist which crosses thread in loop, into which the head of bobbin is placed from behind. This loop, moreover, allows the lengthening of the thread in working by turning the bobbin with left hand and gauging the thread with right.

Pin the pattern around the cushion roll, matching the ends at their meeting, as the work must be continuous. If the design should join too loosely, pin a strip of paper or cloth around the roll to fill it out.

Place one or more pins, according to direction, back of the highest part of roll where the work begins, no specified point being necessary, as these serve the purpose not of outlining the work, but for suspending the bobbins, which are now hung over them in pairs, the number of pairs being designated at the beginning of each pattern. Five inches or more, of thread should be allowed from pin to bobbin. The bobbins are numbered in pairs, from right to left, the first pair being always at the right, and the numbering immovable, although the pair which has just been the 2nd becomes the 3rd, 5th or 10th in the working. It being impossible, therefore, to recognize the pairs in all the changes, the pair which falls into the place of the number in working becomes that number accordingly. Two pairs, right and left, are used at a time. The dots for the insertion of pins are designated by number on the pattern. Place the pins firmly in that the work may be well held in place, and draw up the threads tightly in making the points. Let there be no loose loops to destroy the effect of the design. Be plentiful in the use of pins.

The pattern being pinned on the roll, the bobbins hanging in place in pairs as directed in Pattern No. 1, and being numbered from right to left—begin with the 1st and 2nd pairs, crossing the 2nd bobbin over the 3rd, the 4th over the 2nd, and the 3rd over the 1st, as in diagram which illustrates the making of a half point (page 1), repeat this half point, and the first step in the cluny edge is accomplished. Then make a point in the same manner with the 3rd and 4th pairs of bobbins, cross these four pairs together in a “point of 8” (see directions), put a pin at dot 1 on the pattern, and “close,” crossing the four pairs in a point of 8, and proceed with directions for pattern No. 1. Remember always that a pin is “closed” with the same point which precedes it.
