

Photograph by Nevin O. Winter

A RUSSIAN PEASANT GIRL SPINNING: UKRAINE

The women of the Ukraine are especially fond of bright colors, and one of the features of the native costume is the necklace of varicolored beads. The industrial development of the Ukraine region has provided a cheap method of producing cloth, so that the home spinning-wheel and the loom gradually began to disappear a decade or more ago.