A CHRISTMAS PARTY

By Will Carleton

Ten, you have been a-groaning, perhaps a month or two,
About my Christmas party, and what I meant to do;
For you're not quite sure concerning the guests you're going to ask.

Our children—No, not this time; they're children of their own,
Whose Christmas trees are bending with presents newly grown;
They've got their little presents, with love-flowers all about;
Just as we work so hard for, when we first started out.

Our叫做—Well, not this time; there's what the place intends;
They're all quite6 nearly prosperous, with a lot of friends;
The world is always offering success an upward kick;
But Christmas wasn't invented for the rich.

Our preacher and his family—They're working now, like us,
Setting out the slippery and other gifts sent us;
One turkey I know of is on their kitchen-plate;
A cherry, popular preacher has got little, now a day.

You don't know who you've invited yet—Well, that isn't too bad;
Of course you've no 'farmer,—no woman ever had;
But still, your hands and heart, wife, have never gone to war;
A woman works much happier, when she knows who she is for.

I'll tell you one—a cripple that you and I both know,
In hiding in a small hut, half buried with the snow;
His body heavily struggling to ease his soul to save;
I'm going to get that cripple, and keep him here all day.

And one's a poor old woman we've never called our friend,
But whose sale life grew heavy while struggling in the rain—
Without a merry Christmas for twenty winters past;
To-day she'll have a pin to last her all the while.

And one's an old-style preacher; poor, full of honesty, truth,
Whose cherished hat fallen, or run off with his youth;
And younger men and posterity, with flowery words came high;
And so the various christmases have stood by the old man.

He tried his best to please them and serve Judeas too—
He tried his best to make something; he was a good man.
The wanted excitement, and every-gud speech;
And now this grand old preacher can't get a place to preach.

But I'm not satisfied, that angels crawl up near
That man-deseased leader, his God-like thoughts to hear;
We'll have a little-chaplet made over as we are,
When hush; hush! thankful, and ask the blessing now.

"And who are they?"—I have sent word to all in my mind's way;
Who aren't offended at that's equal to the Day;
And some good prosperous friends, too, will come with smiling face, too.
To keep those poor from feeling that they're a mystery man.

And one of these—She's young, who, though sleepy, we doubt,
Once ours, quite understated—and as we two, fell out;
And every Sunday morning we've passed each other's door.
And have not known each other for fifteen years or more.

I went to his last evening, and said, "Old friend, see here;
We've both lived good fellows; now doesn't it strike you strange,
That we're missing seasons to see the grains of wheat?
Come over, once, to-morrow, and bring along your wife.

"Just come and help me, helping some poor ones draw their loads,
Who've waited upon the solicitude of Lloyd's avenue walks.
He looked at me in wonder—then stood a moment still—
Then grasped my hands, and whispered, "My dear old friend, I will.

I think you'll come, too, Goodbyes, from what your features say.
And that's the kind of company we're going to have to-day,
Through which I hope to see all mankind may come;
A sort of Christmas party where Christ would feel at home.

Carleton, by Will Carleton.
CHAPTER III.

It was a very plain but pretty little cottage of white, where Mansfield and his wife had spent the winter with their daughter, and from which Mansfield had been unable to leave them for any length of time, and which he had now determined to sell. His wife, who had been ill for several months, had just recovered from a severe illness, and was now able to live in the country. He had purchased the cottage from a friend, and was looking forward to spending the summer there with his family.

During the winter, Mansfield had spent much of his time in Paris, where he had been working on a new novel. He was proud of the fact that he had been able to complete the first chapter of his novel, and was eager to see how his friends would react to it.

"I shall not have time to write letters," he said to his wife, "I must go to Paris and look after my novel."

"But you must not go alone," she said, "I want you to come with me."

"I cannot," he replied, "I must work."

"But you cannot work without rest," she said, "you must come with me."

MOTHERS.

FATIGUE AND ITS RELIEF.

BY MRS. J. L. LEE.

"Oh, what shall we do tonight, mamma? Can't we go out and have a picnic? It's been so long since we've gone to the park!"

"Well, if you're sure, honey, then we'll go. But let's be sure to bring some sandwiches and some lemonade."

Mrs. Lee could barely contain her excitement as she packed the picnic basket. She knew it was going to be a perfect day for a picnic in the park.

The sun was shining bright and the weather was perfect for an outdoor adventure. Mrs. Lee and her family were ready to enjoy the picnic they had planned for so long.

Mrs. Lee knew that sometimes mothers felt fatigued from the constant demands of raising children. She had experienced it herself and was determined to make sure that her family had a fun day out.

As they arrived at the park, the children were thrilled to see the swings, slides, and bouncing houses. Mrs. Lee watched as her family played and enjoyed each other's company.

After a few hours of playing, the children were tired and ready for something to eat. Mrs. Lee had packed a delicious spread of sandwiches and lemonade for their picnic.

The children were excited to see the sandwiches and lemonade. They couldn't wait to dig in and enjoy their picnic.

After the picnic, Mrs. Lee and her family spent some time walking around the park and enjoying the beautiful scenery. They marveled at the beauty of nature and the importance of spending time together.

Mrs. Lee knew that taking time for herself and her family was important for everyone's well-being. She was grateful for the opportunity to have a fun day out and to relieve the stress of everyday life.

As the sun began to set, the family headed home, feeling fulfilled and happy. Mrs. Lee knew that they would cherish these memories for a long time to come.

The end.
The middle of the great room stood the looking glass ten feet long enough to cover the entire length of the room. A white frame surrounded it, and the face was divided into four sections, each section containing a beautiful scene from nature. The glass was so large that it could be used as a mirror, but it also served as a window, allowing natural light to enter the room. A small table was placed in front of the glass, and on it sat a beautiful vase filled with red roses. The vase was made of crystal and had a golden base, adding a touch of elegance to the room. The roses were fresh and vibrant, their petals glowing in the soft light filtering through the glass. The table was positioned in such a way that it created a balance with the other furniture in the room, ensuring that the space remained harmonious and inviting. The overall effect was one of tranquility and beauty, making the room a perfect place for relaxation and contemplation.
A Musical Feast

by the editor of the Wm. H. Ellet, Uncle Sam's agent for the United States.

The campaign has been a success, and the seats are all filled. The concert is to begin at eight o'clock, and the doors will be opened a quarter of an hour before that time. The program is to consist of a number of popular songs, and the instrumental music will be played by a band of excellent musicians. The concert will be concluded with a grand finale, consisting of a Patriotic song, sung by a large choir of volunteers.

United Voices

The choir consists of a large number of men and women, and they are all thoroughly trained in the art of singing. The music is arranged by a well-known composer, and it is said to be one of the finest specimens of choral music ever heard. The concert will be a great success, and it is to be hoped that it will be a source of pleasure and benefit to all who attend.

Children's Diadem

The children's diadem is a beautiful piece of workmanship, and it is to be hoped that it will be a source of pleasure and benefit to all who wear it. The diadem is made of silver and gold, and it is adorned with precious stones. It is to be hoped that it will be a source of pleasure and benefit to all who wear it.

Plush Shawl Cover.

Mrs. G. B. Mansfield, N. Y., asks in the December number of the Godey's Lady's Book for a pretty way to cover her new shawl. This is exactly what she wants. Lay across the shawl a narrow strip of satin, and tie it in the center with a bow. Make it as large as you wish, and it will serve to cover a shawl, and it will also serve to cover a shawl.

CHRISTMAS Dainties

CONTINENTAL CAKES

The great success which these cakes have enjoyed in Europe, their lightness and deliciousness, being such as to make them a favorite universal dish in the case of splendid entertainments, is due to the wonderful results which are obtained when a simple, yet delicate and elegant, combination of ingredients is employed, such as is the case with the following:

METHOD.

Take 1 lb. of fine granulated sugar, 1 lb. of white flour, a few tablespoons of melted butter, and a few tablespoons of milk, and mix the ingredients until they are well combined. Then beat the mixture until it is smooth and elastic, and add the eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Finally, fold in the chopped nuts and chocolate, and spread the mixture in a greased pan. Bake in a moderate oven until the cake is done, and then allow it to cool before serving.

These craggy, spiny breakfast meatballs became so popular in certain machine-manufacturing circles that a single wedge in the abstract were raised, and many who had supposed that the meatballs were only a novelty or an experiment were actually surprised at the number of people who had eaten them. The meatballs were so well received that they were soon ordered in large quantities, and they were willing to try them in any shape or size. The result was a sensation, and the meatballs were ordered with the same enthusiasm as the original bread balls and rolls.

When Mrs. Brown arrived at the meatball factory, she was greeted with enthusiasm. The workers, who were used to seeing meatballs brought in by the hour, were astonished to see a woman. They were even more surprised to see her load of meatballs. They had never seen a meatball in such a shape before. The meatballs were so well received that they were soon ordered in large quantities, and they were willing to try them in any shape or size. The result was a sensation, and the meatballs were ordered with the same enthusiasm as the original bread balls and rolls.

GRiffin AUTOMATIC RUG MACHINE.

GIVEN FOR ONLY 6 SUBSCRIBERS AT 50 CENTS PER YEAR EACH, OR FOR ONLY 4 SUBSCRIBERS AND 35 CENTS EXTRA, OR FOR ONLY 2 SUBSCRIBERS AND 20 CENTS EXTRA.

IT IS EASILY OPERATED.

The motion of the machine is so easy that any child may do good work with it. The operator sits in an ordinary arm chair, with the framed rug pattern in front, as shown in the cut, one side of the pattern resting upon the table below the machine. The machine is set upon a short metal, carefully tempered, plate on one side, with an opening about one inch from the point through which the rag or yarn passes, and is curved down through the back of the machine to the needle. The operator of this device is evident and needs no comment.

THE NEEDLE IS TUBULAR.

The machine itself is from all others in having a tubular needle, by means of which the stitches are inserted and the handle is easily turned. The face of the machine is in the form of a polygon and is composed of several parts, each part being made to stitch in any angle as desired by the operator as the single line passes the rag.

THE FEED IS AUTOMATIC.

The feed motion is imparted to the machine by a backward movement of the needle as it passes down through the back of the machine, pushing the machine forward just as much every time, so that when the machine is held and guided by one hand, it is only necessary to operate the needle up and down with the thumb and forefinger of the other hand.

It is so simple to work, that even the beginners can understand it in a few days. This machine will make a rag rug, patch, or carpet trim.

THE WEEDEN UPRIGHT STEAM ENGINE

Free to any boy sending us 10 subscribers at 50c each, or 8 subscribers and 25c extra, or 6 subscribers and 50c extra.

A real complete working machine. You can blow the whistle or start and stop the engine by opening and closing the throttle valve as in a large engine. It is a scientific toy, nearer in appearance and operation to a large engine than any toy heretofore made. It is both amusing and instructive. It is safe and easy to operate. It will run small toys and develop impressively, it is a simple and complete machine which will practically illustrate to the youthful mind that powerful work can be done on all sizes in this age of steam. There are 41 pieces and over 400 operations in the main features of this engine. Every engine is tested and warranted to be in every respect as described.

SAFETY-VALVE.—This engine has a perfect working Safety-Valve, which makes it impossible for the boiler to explode.

STEAM-WHISTLE.—By referring to the cut, you will notice the location of the steam-whistle. You will also see the wheels by which the whistle is operated.

The THROTTLE-VALVE.—One important feature of this engine is its Throttle-Valve. No other amateur engine has this feature.

The PROP OF THE ENGINE.—The engine has sufficient power for running toy machinery. So perfectly and so accurately in this engine made that the screw-jacks on the cylinder head and the rear arms on the boiler and front arms are inserted (set). The front of the boiler and the cylinders are fitted for both steam and water, and all parts are in their respective positions. The engine is in a perfect state of repair, and the work is done by the best workmen. The engine is in a perfect state of repair, and the work is done by the best workmen.

This is a splendid present to give a boy. We have many subscribers (which we shall much prefer), and we can fill this engine to our subscribers for only $1.00, and by express, receiver, to pay charges. We can mail to distant places for 40 cents, if preferred. The regular price is $1.25 in most stores. Some sell it for $1.25, but our price is the lowest.

The Ladies' Home Journal

DECEMBER, 1897.

Ladies Shopping Bags.

We offer as a free present to any lady who will send us 10 subscriptions at $1.00 each, for only $8.00. A price for below what the largest houses in New York, Boston, Philadelphia or Chicago would ask for the same goods.

For the past year or two it has been the fashion to cover the mantlescapes with an armory of texts in a foot or more in width, in which the chiffon is also used. The same season we shall be able to offer a selection of the best qualities of all, variegated with a patch of color, and stamped with a shield, for ainsert lace for only 75 cents, or 25 cents extra.

This is one of our best pieces, and has pleased our subscribers so well that almost every one of them will find it in use at once. In fact, it is all made to the same size to secure one just like it, and we are sure that you cannot have a cheap, or even a small one. Have we any purchase of mantlescapes for only 50 cents that will cost you 10 cents a yard, or $1.60 at retail.

HANDSOME SILK DRESSES.

GIVEN FOR ONLY 500 YEARLY SUBSCRIBERS, OR WILL BE GIVEN FOR ONLY 100 SCRIBES AND $5 EXTRA, OR FOR ONLY 100 SUBSCRIBERS AND $10 EXTRA IN CASH, OR WILL BE GIVEN FOR ONLY 50 SUBSCRIBERS AND $15 EXTRA.

By using the term a silk dress in our premium offers, we do not wish to give the impression that our subscribers are not nobly selling us to swell the list of subscribers to a million, to consider themselves obliged to select any one dress or style of dress, but to take their choice from a variety of fabrics costing $1.00 a yard, twenty yards being the amount of goods given for a stand number of yearly subscribers at $1.00 each.

Our model dress is, as can be seen, in figured fabric, and is made with full skirt and in gather, with hand-embroidered detail, and gracefully looped back. The laces is rendered most effective by a trimming of plain sash, in shoulder rosettes, full brocading, hat, collar and cuffs.

Such a dress can be reproduced in any suitable fabric for day and evening wear, and to aid our co-workers in making their selections, we herein mention a few particularly suitable wholesale materials for various occasions.

Black gros-grain silks are always useful, and are black chaussettes, and for the very busiest winter season for mourning and other wear, are made of the best black silk-yarn materials.

Other may like the better colored silks, or soft suiting, in light or dark shades with fancy velvet or chenille lace for combination or trimming; for instance a lady can take fifteen yards of faille, sateen, or chasenets at $1.00 a yard, and five yards of gros-grain silk.

TO PRESERVE THE SOFTNESS OF FLANNEL GARMENTS, FOLLOW CAREFULLY THESE DIRECTIONS FOR WASHING.

Dissolve thoroughly in boiling water some Ivory Soap, shaved fine. Add sufficient warm water to wash the flannel in one by one.

Don't rub any soap on the flannels, but knead them well in the solution.

Don't rinse them in plain water, use a fresh supply of the solution, warm and well bleached, for the purpose.

Don't wring tightly with the hands, use a clothes-wringer. The freer from water you get these garments the softer they will be.

Hang them out immediately, if the weather will permit; if not, dry before the fire. If left to stand wet, the flannel will certainly shrink.

Never wash flannel in water too hot to bear your hand in.

Never rinse them in cold water.

Always use Ivory Soap, it is the best, much experience has proved this.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory'" they ARE NOT, but all counterfeit, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.
