Hat-napping Machine. A felted body is dipped into boiling water and its nap drawn out or carded up by a small hand-card. The process of scalding in napping is described in English patent 7397 for 1837. Known also as raffing.