Web, n. [A.S. webb.] That which is woven; texture of threads; a sort of flannele or texture formed of threads interwoven with each other; textile fabric; hence, locally, a piece of cloth; as, to spin a web. — A fiber or texture spun by a spider. — A dusky film, or suffusion, that forms over the eye and hinders the sight. — Among block-makers, the thin partition on the inside of the rim and between the spokes of a shave.