CLUB DUES
If you did not pay the extra .50 requested for club year 1971-1972, you are in arrears.
The increase was voted on at the annual meeting, August 3, 1971.
DUES ARE TO INCREASE to $5.00 a Year beginning September 1973, for the club year 1973-74.
Execution Committee
(Some have included the .50 for last year with this year's dues. THANK YOU.)

TATTING CONTEST WINNERS CHOSEN BY BALLOT
Many club members entered original Tatted pieces in the contest sponsored by the club and judged at the annual meeting by the executive board. The 3 top winners are:
2. Mrs. Rhoda Auld, Corvallis, Oregon
3. Mrs. Paula Saddler, Astoria, New York
CONGRATULATIONS!
Around the corner I have a friend,
In this great city that has no end;
Yet days go by, and weeks rush on,
And before I know it a year is gone,
And I never see my old friend's face,
For life is a swift and terrible race.

He knows I like him just as well
As in the days when I rang his bell
And he rang mine. We were younger then,
And now we are busy, tired men:
Tired with playing a foolish game,
Tired with trying to make a name.

"Tomorrow", I say, "I will call on Jim,
Just to show that I'm thinking of him."
But tomorrow comes - and tomorrow goes,
And the distance between us grows and grows.

Around the corner - yet miles away,
"Here's a telegram, sir...Jim died today."
And that's what we get, and deserve in the end.
Around the corner, a vanished friend.

Remember, life is short, so let's keep our friends. We can never have enough of them.

In Memoriam
E. Lolita Eveleth

Miss E. Lolita Eveleth, of Concord, New Hampshire, a member of International Old Lacers since January 1951, passed away, Monday, July 31st.

Miss Eveleth is a graduate of the Pratt Institute in drawing, painting and illustration and received degrees of Bachelor of Science and Master of Arts in Fine Arts Education from Teachers College, Columbia, New York. Later she studied in Europe and traveled abroad. She taught in Portland, Oregon, New Jersey, and in the Westfield State College in Mass. After serving as Professor of Art at Westfield State for 18 years, she retired and gave her time to her hobby of research and collecting of unique and antique pieces of lace.

She prepared an index sheet for members notebooks of sample laces and a chart for identification of laces which was given out at the annual meeting in Buffalo, N.Y. August 8, 1962.

She drew the lace design used on the bulletin cover for the year 1963-1964; then worked during the next year research and making the sample stitches for 10 bobbin lace and 2 needle lace grounds which were printed with information about the laces the grounds were used in, in the booklet "The Meshes of Hand Made Lace" in April 1966, the profit of which is contributed to the national club treasury.

For her services to the club, she was made an Honorary Member at the annual meeting in August 1969 and Consultant of Lace Identification at the annual meeting in August 1970.

She was a friend of many, many members and an acquaintance of many more, and her delightful personality and warm and earnest interest in helping us to comprehend the mysteries of lace will be sadly and deeply missed by all.

Members and Friends attending the Annual Lace Club Meeting in Omaha paused for a minute of silent prayer for deceased members: Miss R. Opal Wallace, Mrs. Marian Powys Grey, Miss Edna-Glenn Jones, Mrs. D. H. Miller, and Miss E. Lolita Eveleth.

HISTORIAN'S REPORT

The Historian's position for International Old Lacers will have a new reporter after August.

I especially want to thank the following for complete cooperation this past year: Mrs. Doris Southard, Mrs. Rachel Wareham, Mrs. Pauline Downs, Mrs. Elsie Osted, Mrs. Audrey Salls of Braggins, Mrs. Jean Astbury, - Dennan and District Lace Makers; Mrs. Eunice Arnold of Bedford, England (and here I must interject a note; Caleb Wainsome, 9 years old, makes lace in school, wrote to thank me for having his name and picture in an American paper. Then he asked "are you a girl or a boy? and how old are you?"
I wrote him I was older than his teacher by many years, but that you never ask a woman her age.

Now to continue with the helpers with news items: Mrs. Mary Blandford and Miss Anna Mae Choquette, who has been very watchful of California items, and has sent them on to me.

I must give an especially thank you to "The Christian Science Monitor" for articles on Bobbin and Lace this past two years -- while we did not run the articles always in the bulletin, they are a part of your Historian's Book.

It is important to watch your daily and Sunday papers for articles on any of the forms of lace mentioned on our application. Get permission to run article and then send either to publicity chairman or Mrs. Rachel Wareham, our editor.

My thanks again to those who made this position a bit easier. Sincerely, Mrs. Pat Harris
THANK YOU -- From Past Treasurer

A big "Thank You" to all who were so kind in sending the lovely letters, and cards to me while I was in office. I did so appreciate them all.

My good wishes for the officers and members of "International Old Lacers" for a successful future. -- Sincerely, Mrs. Pauline Downs

Report of the

EMBROIDERERS' GUILD EXHIBITION '72 in London

By Zelda Connell, Ohio

I entered my hanging "Lavender and Lace" in the Lace Class. They sent me the catalog of the Show with a full page picture of the hanging, just like the one finished, full view picture of it in March I.O.L. bulletin. -- It was the only picture in the overseas section. Sure made me feel important to read---Zelda Connell U.S.A. There were just eight exhibitors from U.S.A., Doris Bennett, Z. Connell, Cleo Francisco, Elizabeth Gurrier, Dorothy Hickey, Bucky King, Ruth Mann and Joan Swartz. I don't know if these are members of I.O.L. or not.

(Bucky King of Penn is.)

Minutes of the May 17th Meeting of the

METROPOLITAN AREA BRANCH

Mrs. Olive Risch hosted the second meeting of the Metropolitan Area Chapter at her home in Ridgewood, New Jersey. Twenty-one members attended.

Mrs. Risch had a superb collection of antique bobbins and pillows on display for members which she has been collecting over the years.

Members also examined Miss Eveleth's lace watch book and identification chart.

Mrs. Gunvor Jorgenson is presently giving bobbin lace lessons at Craftsmen Unlimited, Inc., Bedford Hills, New York.

Miss Hilda Borcherdin reminded members that classes for bobbin and knitted laces will begin in September at the Ballard School in Manhattan.

We decided to have no further meetings throughout the summer months and will reconvene at the Metropolitan Museum of Art Textile Study Room, October 26th, Friday, at 11:00 AM. Miss Hemann, the museum's lace expert will be giving a lecture for us there and we will have access to the museum's vast collections.

Myra Young, 1365 York Avenue, New York, N.Y., will host the November meeting on Tuesday, November 14, at 11:00 o'clock.

Respectfully submitted,

Paula Siddler

PORTLAND BRANCH

The July meeting of the Portland Bobbin Lacers was held on the 6th at Oregon Room of the St. Clair Apartments. Ten members were present. The meeting was devoted to a discussion on the advantages of the use of a cone for handkerchief lace. Hazel Cook and Mildred Urie were our hostesses.

On August 3rd, the Portland Bobbin Lacers met again at the Oregon Room of the St. Clair Apartments with nine members in attendance. Lena Anderson and Virginia Bryant were the hostesses for the meeting. The entire meeting was spent in helping each other with problems in our laces. Virginia Bryant, Correspondent

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN

We have been impressed with the versatility of skill and knowledge of our lacers and now our last meeting with Mary Lou Kueker on July 15 has brought to light another facet of interest of several of our group.

Mary Lou Reichard of nearby Lincoln Park who is a busy teacher at Greenfield Village and at her local "Y", brought some of her macrame and teaching materials to show us her teaching and working methods. She answered our many questions and told about her experiences at the Handweavers' Convergence and workshops she attended recently in Detroit. We are watching for her taped lecture and lesson on TV next week. She has promised to come back and tell us about her visit to the Canal in August.

We said goodbye to Matilda McCarthy who will live permanently in Florida, and welcomed back Gladys Reese for the summer. Janet Pawden is our newest member.

To show our gratitude for an excellent program we all bring along something of interest to share, such as the unusual, large square of bobbin lace Eva Jensen found in her remarkable attic; Mary Selden's shared swatches of yard lace, my new Dictionary of Needlework and our hostesses' elaborate Rattenberg tablecloths she rescued "from destruction". -- Mary Mo'jek

COLUMBINE BRANCH

DENVER, COLORADO.

COLORADO WILL CELEBRATE 100 YEARS IN 1976

Mrs. Virginia Funk was elected president of the Columbine Branch for the coming year at the August meeting. She has also been honored by being chosen chairman of lace exhibits for the 100th Anniversary Celebration of the State of Colorado which will be in 1976. All of the members of the branch will help her in searching out lace items and arranging for display their lovely lace pieces for this centennial exhibit. Detailed information and pictures will be shared during the coming months.

In Memoriam

Edna-Glenn Jones

"We, the members of Columbine Chapter of I.O.L. in Denver, Colorado, wish you to include in 'In Memoriam' the name of Miss Edna-Glenn Jones. Edna-Glenn died on May 12, 1972 and is greatly missed as she has been one of our most loyal and interested lace members since she joined, in September 1969." -- Mildred E. Erhart

(Miss Jones was National Historian (1969-1970)
TATTED ORCHID - FIRST PRIZE WINNER
By Rufaye Blackwell

TEACHING TATTING by LONG DISTANCE
Club member, Mrs. Rufaye Blackwell of Harvard, Mass. had a picture of tatted items she had made published in the January 1972 “Women's Circle” magazine with following wording:

“I wish more people did tatting. I am still collecting books, ideas, and shuttles. I am also teaching tatting to anyone who would like to learn. This year I am making collars and medallions for chokers with tatting with pearl beads.”

She has received many, many letters as a result of the item and has succeeded in teaching many how to tat by mail, much to her delight.

Lace Repair

"I do try to launder, repair, mend and reweave lace. I've given new life to several pieces of Battenberg and I would be glad to do it for others at a small fee." Helen Foster

From Ann Arbor, Michigan July 25, 1972

"The names needed for lace repair and restoration could include mine. I spent winter before last on a bobbin lace (Milan type) banquet cloth. The bobbin mesh around the bird medallions had been broken. The cloth was about 6' x 12' and a joy to behold.

I read with interest Helen Foster's article on St. Galls (July bulletin, page 101) having spent a delightful full day on the Museum's fabulous collection of lace there last summer. It was not easy to find because they call it 'The Museum of Industries and Trades' which might not suggest laces to everyone. But, the Ilk and Joocey collections of 15th-19th century laces and embroideries was one of the highlights of 'Tracking Lace in Europe'.

DANISH BOBBIN LACE PATTERNS
From: Northvale, New Jersey August 24, 1972

"As there seems to be a never ending request for new patterns for bobbin lace, I would like to offer this information. Patterns can be ordered from Danish Pattern Service c/o Mrs. Astrid Elton Hansen Flindts Vaenge, 4800 Keoge, Denmark

Mrs. Hansen graduated with Honors - in lace making from The School of Arts and Crafts in Copenhagen. Her patterns are very accurate, they are pricked - not printed, which would not be as accurate - and she will also accompany the patterns with diagrams on request. Each pattern is marked with the number of bobbins, and the size of thread needed. -- Mrs. Hansen makes not only the traditional patterns, but she will compose new ones to your individual specifications. Hope this will be of interest to other lace makers." Gunvor Jorgensen

BOOK REVIEWS

By Mary Lou Kueker, Ann Arbor, Michigan

With this issue of the Bulletin we begin a new regular feature in response to the requests of members. I'll be reviewing old and new books on lace (all kinds) and related subjects, and answering readers' questions about books. For this first time, however, I just want to introduce the column and ask for your suggestions.

Is there a book you've heard of and want to know more about before you buy it? I hope to provide detailed information, and together with the consultants in lace specialties, expert opinions, to help members make those decisions. But please let me hear from you. If you want to know what books are available on your lace interest, or about a specific work, write and ask. If you have a favorite book—or a pet hate--I'd love to have your comments.

In future columns you'll see the many new books being published these days, along with older ones well-known to some, but new to a lot of members. And most important, they should be books you want to hear about--so I'll be waiting for your helpful letters.

From: Port Credit, Ont. Can. July 19, 1972
"I belong to a senior citizens group here but there is just no one interested in bobbin lace,--in fact--so many didn't know of it. One of our club members is a direct descendent of "Leavers" of machine making lace and her brother, Mr. Leavers, has all the old data he could find in their parents' home, but no lace.
Younger persons seem more interested -- but not enough to learn about it." Anna Climo

From: Worthington, Ohio August 1, 1972
"I gave a talk 'Lace Making, Yesteryear

Bobbin Lace

By Kaethe Kliot, Berkeley, California

In exploring new dimensions for Bobbin Lace, I have just recently completed a large 10 foot by 6 foot tapestry. Materials include heavy and fine Marlin, wax linen and nylon monofilament fish line, the latter a mess to work with but worth every drop of sweat for its special quality.

I have had the good fortune to learn from Mrs. Biedermann most of what I do know in Bobbin Lace. Studying under her guidance for over a year I feel I have a good base for my current explorations. A session with Lydia Van Gelder further reinforced my desire to approach Bobbin Lace in a contemporary vein. I worked the piece directly from a rod hanging on my back porch without the usual help of pins or patterns. I made a small cartoon as a guide and of course got much comment from a watchful husband. I worked the heavy tree form first using the heavy marlin (found at the local dump) with a linen stitch. Extra threads were added and subtracted as the form demanded. Temporary support strings were used to hold things together till the background could be executed. This main form took about 20 hours and used every bit of the 25 pound coil of marlin. Filling in the branches was fun with much doing and undoing working out forms as well as keeping within the amount of rope available. Special bobbins had to be invented as I went along as well as special wedges to work in extra threads. An old shoe hook came in handy for pulling threads through and sewings.

The characteristics of the nylon monofilament necessitated my doing the lake form separately on a board with pins and a rough pattern. Heavy bobbins (1/4 pound each) were used to keep the thread in tension. I let these hang off the edge of the table to keep the threads from jumping all over. This part took almost 40 hours but when I was through I really felt I had the material. Wonderful things happen to light as it is modulated by the monofilament and thus feel this to be an important material to add to lace techniques inspite of its difficult working properties.

All the fill in grounds are Brussels, torchon and half stitches with various amounts of twists to get the desired curves. Most of these were done as strips and joined as new sections were worked. I found the curves very difficult to control without any pattern and finally resorted to drawing the curves on a large sheet of paper which I hung behind the tapestry. Most of the grounds were done in wax linen. A fine marlin was used for the edge weaves as well as for the leaf and branch infillings.

I worked the total piece over a 9 week period and estimate about 120 hours working time. The finished piece weighs almost 30 pounds and hangs beautifully on my back porch where I hope it stays forever. Working it in place was a great help although during rain spells I did move into the garage. The heavy odor of the treated ropes made it impossible to work indoors although the odor is lessening with age. The waxy and oily textures made it lovely to work with in spite of the odor.

The piece was entered in the Northern California Handweavers Conference in April and won a white ribbon. With the pains and frustrations over I feel very much in my glory and hope to try a multi-layered piece in addition to some of the very fine work I am currently working on.

I call the piece "Life Cycle". It was conceived to be compatible with the earth-sky-water theme of the convention display and at the same time express the strong energy flow among life sources.

Born in Cologne, Germany in 1930, I lived like most everyone else through the rough years of war. My most memorable education was in staying alive and learning to do with what ever was available. Crafts meant something to wear or use. Shoes, socks and cloth were always done with a practical purpose in mind.

My first leisure art came in learning to do lace knitting at the age of 16 from a 90 year old neighbor. What mother could not get into me, this lady could. Making mostly elaborate tablecloths for sale to the GIs' was a somewhat reliable source for income. I later studied Archaeology which led me to Africa for research and studies. I moved to Canada in 1953 where I studied nursing. In 1955 I married and moved to Ann Arbor, Michigan to live with my husband Jules who was studying Architecture. I became a somewhat accomplished potter in my year in Michigan before finally coming to California in 1956. Here I found a real affinity towards textiles and found myself buying a loom and studying weaving at the Richmond Art Center. Over the years my directions have been towards tapestry weaving with its infinite variety of weaves as well as loom shapes weaves for garments.

After setting up our own home, which included eventually four children, I started making rugs. To get the mess out of the house I was soon involved with the opening of a small shop. This was 1965 and the beginning of a very happy experience of being a shopkeeper. As indefinite as it was, we called it 'Some Place' and sold materials for rug making and taught the techniques involved. Taking many workshops and courses in the textile arts I found myself with a new focus. Lace became a new love with particular interest in Bobbin Lace. A small space adjacent to 'Some Place' has become my studio where I have been teaching Tapestry Weaving, Non-Loom Weaving, Macrame and Lace for the last three years. Currently I also give advanced workshops in all these fields as well as lectures to groups.

My husband, Jules, is an Architect, consultant in Multi-Media systems, photographer, inventor of various weaving, spinning and lace tools, jeweler, potter and a constant source of en-couragement for my own endeavors.

My greatest joys have been in helping people with their crafts and my own rewards of learning in return.

I currently hold active membership in the Golden Gate Weavers and The International Old Lacers.

BOBBIN LACE PILLOW made by MR. WM. POTTER
It can be used with the regular roll or a cone. When using the cone it is possible to work the corner and continue with the straight edge.

BOBBIN LACE PILLOW WITH CONE AND LACE PRICKING

— Pad the corner as no two prickings will fit on cone the same.

Size of handkerchief is determined by length

This pillow is made in a carton with wood rods to support the cone. The cone is styrofoam with two or more layers of wool coating or blanket and a cover. We use a knitting needle for the center pin in the cone to rotate upon. We start on side of handkerchief, marking out our start, count corners and return to starting mark and join. It's very convenient.

Some have a pillow into which a cone can replace the spool. The corner of the pattern has to be padded as no two patterns stand out the same.

Success Poses Knotty Problem

By LISA PATRICK — Journal Society Editor

Two years ago, Connie Nickoud tried her hand at macrame. Now she has turned the dining room, the living room, and a bedroom of the family home in Oregon City into a warehouse of string, cord, thread and beads of all varieties.

Macrame, the art of knotting, is a very popular handicraft. The more ingenious the material used, the more delightful the end result.

As Connie's skills increased, her desire for cords and threads grew, but unusual material had to be tracked down, mail-ordered, or could not be found. When other macrame-making friends asked her to order for them, she obliged them.

This became time-consuming to a degree that started Connie thinking about becoming a supplier. Intensely practical and well-organized, she perceived that the dining room of the home could become the major space to accommodate the coils of heavy cord, rolls of fine thread, the intermediate weight yarns and beads of every size and description.

It all came about because a friend from California came to visit Connie wearing a macrame necklace. Good at handwork and delighted with the design, Connie immediately signed up for a class with Virginia Harvey, one of the first macrame teachers in the area.

From the original inspiration, Connie has gone on to design a Christmas hanging for the door of their home— a tree hung with tiny real bells and an owl, which she has done in a number of versions, incorporating twisted twigs of driftwood. The whole family enjoys going on expeditions to collect the driftwood. Rex, whose contribution is husbandly tolerance of the disappearance of his dining room; Jeff, 13, who runs the shop when his mother can't be there; Gregg, 11, and Nancy, 8, who are also good assistants; and Anne Marie, 5, who does lots of jobs; all play their parts.

The owls are distinguished by bead eyes and beak, designed exclusively for Connie's shop by Roger and Jeanne Long of the Long Alley Gallery in Lake Oswego.

A knotty problem is facing Connie, who has about reached saturation point on a part-time hobby business. The question is whether to go on as things are, or to become a real business with a shop away from home and probably hired help. (Although the children are paid for their work.)

Connie has an idea for a kit which would be pre-packaged in spare time, thus cutting down the considerable time expended in individual selection of strings and beads.

But that would cut down the satisfaction of creativity—the exclusive, personal combination of material that is one of the delights of macrame.

It's a problem common to most hobbies that pay. When does a hobby become a business? Would one want to have it grow that big? Is it more fun to stay small and enjoy the people and the pleasure?

Usually a catalyst is waiting to happen. Then the hobbyist decides. In the meantime, for Connie Nickoud, and the four involved children, macrame is fun and profitable.

And Rex Nickoud wants his wife and children to "do their thing," even if he never gets his dining room back.

Ancient Art of Bobbin Lace Enjoys Revival in Kitsap Area

By Rosie Atkinson, Family Scene Editor

An almost extinct bit of Swedish culture has found its way to Kitsap County through the talented fingers of Mrs. Gunborg Skold, 1461 Pine Road.

"Knyppling," translated to "bobbin lace" in this country, is being revived by Mrs. Skold as more people in the area find out about her deftness at this ancient art.

Mrs. Skold, president of the Senior Citizens Hobby Club, said she learned the art as a girl in her hometown, Stockholm.

"It was a mark of good upbringing," Mrs. Skold said. "Usually only the well-to-do learned how to work lace because the equipment and materials were expensive."

Knyppling was introduced in Vadstena, Sweden, about the 15th Century by an order of nuns, according to Mrs. Skold. They taught the Swedish people to make lace which they could sell to support themselves. In that period, she said, the lace was used in both men's and women's clothing.

Sometimes called "pillow lace" because the base used to weave it upon is called a pillow, the art began to catch on in other parts of this country only recently, she said.

The current problem for lacers is finding the equipment. A pillow can be purchased in Sweden for about $40, according to Mrs. Skold, but she is working on one that she will put together herself. The bobbins and stitcher (a hole punching device to make the lace pattern) were brought with her from Sweden when she came to this country in 1937.

Another problem, Mrs. Skold said, is finding instructions in English, and locating a retail outlet that handles pure linen thread.

She found a place to buy the thread, she said, but pointed out that it wasn't like the thread she brought from Sweden. She has been in touch with a former neighbor in San Francisco who told her an English lace instruction book can be purchased from Robin & Russ Handweavers, McKinnonville, Oregon for about $5.

Other members of the hobby club have been learning to work lace from Mrs. Skold, who is more than happy to show them.

"But it takes a long time to do this if they have the English instructions they can work on their own and faster," she added.

There are many uses for the lace other than to edge pillow cases -- or trim clothing. One of the books brought from Sweden shows illustrations of fancy tablecoverings, and bridal head-pieces, and in Sweden much of the lace was used in churches.
Many patterns can be created from bobbin lace, as illustrated by these made by Mrs. Skold. "They can be as fancy or as simple as you want them," Mrs. Skold said. "Of course, the fancy ones take longer to learn.

—[Sun Photos by Richard Ellis]

Making lace is just one of Mrs. Skold's talents. She also paints, plays the piano and pursues other crafts. "My family placed great emphasis on art and culture. Their idea of an evening's entertainment was to go to the opera or sit and listen to classical music at home," she explained.

Before moving to San Francisco from Stockholm, Mrs. Skold was a meat cutter in her family's butcher store, which supplied much of the city's fresh meat. After her father died in 1929, she and her brother operated the shop.

She also was skilled at stenography and was secretary at the Swedish consulate in San Francisco during World War II.

She moved to Bremerton six years ago after she was widowed to be near her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alan D. White, and her three grandchildren.

"Someday I hope to teach my granddaughters how to work lace," she said. "I think that would be nice for them to learn."

A BOOK OF BOBBIN LACE PATTERNS

The International Old Lacers is planning to print a book of bobbin lace patterns that may be purchased by members, with the profit from the project going into the International Old Lacers treasury.

Members are invited to contribute their favorite bobbin lace pattern to this project. We request that the number of bobbins, the size of thread to use be included and that the pattern be marked by letters or numbers where to start each pair of bobbins.

These patterns are to be sent to:

Mrs. Muriel Mitchell, 3795 Trinity Street
Burnaby 2, British Columbia, Canada

She will be responsible for the printing of the book.

Lacemaking is a Lonesome Art

By Peggy Ziebarth

The life style of Mrs. Lloyd (Nancy) Evans of Kent ranges from the breathtaking pace typical of today's women actively involved in family and community to serene artistry in a craft which was the pride of women several centuries ago—the ancient art of lacemaking.

"Women today tend to want to do things and see instant results," muses Nancy, "I don't mind waiting."

And waiting in this art means working four or five hours to see half an inch of a beautiful rose pattern appear.

Active in a variety of community projects, Nancy is president of the Kent Junior Woman's Club and was selected club woman of the year by the group.

Last summer she led a pioneer social club for former inmates of mental hospitals sponsored by the Valley Cities Mental Health Clinic and she hopes to continue the project this year.

She's clocked nearly 3,000 miles providing transportation through the United Good Neighbors center.

A demure brunette with sparkling eyes, she is the mother of four. Family projects have included gambling with Cub Scouts, bolstering Bluebirds and serving on the Citizen's Advisory Committee for Meridian Elementary School.

But in her spare time she loves to turn to the tranquil needlework which slowly produces beautiful samples of needle lace.

Her involvement with the vanishing art came as the result of a collection of fine handwork which she began years ago.

"It was a hobby I could afford," laughs Nancy remembering her beginnings as a collector.

She haunted thrift shops, rummage sales and junkie shops, where nickels and dimes bought fine pieces of handwork, disguised by years of soil.

"I liked the fine, handmade laces because they are so beautiful and no one makes them anymore," she commented, fingering a lovely bodice of Irish lace made more than a century ago.

Not one to store her treasures away in a drawer, Nancy has worn the fine blouse, exhibits her beautiful lace gloves and rescued lace from a worn out tablecloth to accent a distinctive black velvet cocktail dress.

Because of the fine thread and thousands of stitches involved in lace work it is virtually indestructible if properly cleaned and cared for, according to this enthusiast.

One of her early handwork finds was a grimy alphabet sampler which she bought for a nickel.

The sampler was signed by Camilla Petersen, Stockholm, Sweden, and dated 1692.

Excited, Nancy hardly dared hope that the sampler was authentic, but authorities believe that is is. The lucky find is one of the earliest samples of the art in any collection in this country.

"You learn a lot of history with a hobby like this. One of the first things I learned was that in 1692 there wasn't a J in the alphabet," she said, noting that little Camilla had repeated the alphabet over and over on her sampler, without the J.

As her store of fine laces grew she learned about the history of various types of laces. Venice, French, Irish, Alencon, peau d'ange—no matter how fancy the title the laces fall into the categories of bobbin laces, filet laces or needle laces.

"Bobbin lace came from the weaving art and the thread is woven around pins placed in a pillow—this is an example of bobbin lace," she said, pulling out a lovely doily.

"The filet laces came from the harbor towns and are a refinement of fishnetting techniques."

She especially liked the needle laces—perhaps the finest in the lacemaking repertoire—which evolved from mending and a design to disguise the holes in fabric.

"The needle laces are so beautiful—they almost give a sculptured effect with hundreds of stitches piled on the pattern to give it depth," she illustrated, running a fingertip over a lovely rose pattern.

From passive collector Nancy turned to active lacer. A search through local libraries yield-needle laces.

Her talent grew and she wanted to exchange notes with someone who shared her interest so she joined the International Old Lacer.

A swift look through their directory showed that although there are many lacers involved in making bobbin lace there are no women in the United States making needle lace.

A lonesome feeling.

In her search for fellow lacers Nancy met Virginia Harvey of the University of Washington who is compiling a book on Lace Making which she hopes will popularize the ancient art much like the current boom in macrame.

She has commissioned Nancy to do the illustrative examples which will be photographed and used in her volume.

Commenting on her enthusiasm, Nancy stated staunchly; "I guess I decided to do it because it isn't done -- it would be a shame to let a heritage like that die."

This is the spirit which spawns museum curators, founds historical societies and may result in a kind of resurrection of an ancient art.

Anyone for lacemaking?

Interest in Lacemaking Spans Continents

for Kent's NANCY EVANS

By Peggy Ziebarth

An enthusiastic interest in the art of lace-making is beginning to span continents and generations for Mrs. Lloyd (Nancy) Evans of Kent.

Shortly after her craft and interest in lace-making was featured in a story in this newspaper, Nancy learned of the death of Marian Powy Grey, author of the book "Lace and Lace Making" which had guided her in the first steps of mastering the delicate handicraft.

She wrote a letter to Peter Grey, the author's son, expressing her appreciation and pleasure in the book his mother had written and enclosing a copy of the article describing her work in Kent.

Nancy also urged that the son consider having the book reprinted because it was becoming difficult to obtain copies.

From Blauvelt, New York came a reply from Peter Grey, which read in part:

"Mother would have been thrilled and delighted by the article about you and your 'lonely' (doubt it is a lonely) art. She was always so concerned that lace be again a living, vivid art of the present. My own conviction is that it will be surely as the personal arts of the hand ('handicrafts' is another inadequate word) come back into their own.

"The reference to her book is a fine tribute and I have been bold enough to make a copy of your letter and the article to forward to her brother, Will, in Africa and her sister, Lucy, in England---which will give them the greatest pleasure."

"...She was able to influence innumerable people towards an understanding of the beauty and contemporary validity of the art...and yet lace was only one facet of an extraordinarily sweeping series of skills, each tremendously affirmative of the arts, nature and man. In her last years her friends were largely teenagers who thronged to her house and gained from her--what?--intent vibrations of life, perhaps."

In conclusion Grey promised that one of his efforts this fall will be to engineer a new edition of "Lace and Lace Making."

Then bouncing in "paravion aerogramme" from Dorset, England came a letter from Lucy A. Penny, who wrote:

"I felt I would like to tell you how pleased I am to know of your work--and about your life, and to see the charming picture of you displaying your lace. I believe my nephew is trying to have Marian's book reprinted--should he fail in this I will try and obtain a copy of the first edition for you."

She also wrote that she was posting to Nancy by sea a copy of the golden anniversary issue of the "Bulletin of the Needle and Bobbin Club" which had been given to her by her sister.

Meanwhile, back in Kent, Nancy received many calls from persons expressing interest in the delicate handicraft arts including a telephone call from Mrs. Otty Clifton of Renton.

Mrs. Clifton is Austrian by birth and has traveled extensively in Europe. In her travels she discovered a convent in Burano, Italy, in which the nuns teach the art of needle lacemaking to most of the townpeople in the small village, even the boys. She sent Nancy a postcard of the town which shows a group of lacemaking women before a sign reading "Scuola Merletti di Burano" (Lace School of Burano).

Now Nancy has written a letter to the convent (nuns are said to speak English) and is anxiously awaiting a reply.

As a final chapter in the saga, Nancy has decided that because of the interest generated by the newspaper article she will try to organize a local chapter of International Old Lacers, a society dedicated to preserving knowledge of lacemaking and any of the other fine hand arts. The first organizational meeting was held in her home last week. (July 20, 1972)

The focus of the initial meeting was on a scrapbook compiled for Old Lacers which displays delicate laces crafted between the 1500s and 1800s and is loaned to groups about the country.

BOBBIN LACE: A CONTEMPORARY APPROACH

Our goal is to give Bobbin Lace the place it deserves among today's textile techniques.

If you have, have made, or are aware of any bobbin lace pieces which indicate an innovative approach in terms of technique, design or materials, we would appreciate hearing of them.

Any materials used will be given full credit and we are prepared to do all the photographic work. Thank you for your interest.

BOBBIN LACE: A CONTEMPORARY APPROACH
By Jules and Kaethe Kliot

INTRODUCTION

Bobbin Lace, for all its complex appearances, is simply a technique for fabricating an open type designed fabric by the twisting or plaiting of threads.

The simplicity of this fabric technique together with one of the richest heritages of fabric art, make Bobbin Lace one of the most rewarding techniques for expression in contemporary textile crafts.

Without the limits of loom or frame, of fixed threads or rigid perimeters, virtually complete freedom of form, color and design is possible with only the two basic motions of this lace form.

You can work with four cords and form a simple braid or with many hundreds of cords to form the most intricate of traceries. While traditional lace was generally worked with white bleached threads finer than a human hair together with intricate patterns passed down from generation to generation, our contemporary forms explode with all the colors and materials available today and with designs and forms of totally new dimensions.

The term 'Lace' no longer need imply doilies, frilly collars or dresser scarves worked from traditional patterns on stuffed pillows. It can, instead, imply a complete freedom of expression with designs either preplanned or momentarily inspired. The stuffed pillow can give way to the board and the board can give way to free suspension, however each individual feels most comfortable in the execution of any particular piece. The basic tool, the bobbin, can be a fine carved piece of bone or hardwood, a simple nail, or a clean picked chicken bone.

Patterns can imitate those of weaving or can enrich weaving forms by being integral with them or as finishing terminations. For these reasons it should have strong appeal to weavers as well as other textile workers.

Like Macramé, which was also a lace technique when executed with fine threads at the turn of the century, Bobbin Lace should have the same wide appeal as a rebirth of an unfairly neglected fine craft.

Rather than a skill emphasizing superb craftsmanship in the duplication of traditional patterns, Contemporary Bobbin Lace is worked without patterns and is keyed to personal expression in terms of both design and technique.

Because of its versatility and the simplicity of its basic motions, Bobbin Lace should have the rebirth it deserves.

Thanks to a small group of dedicated enthusiasts who have organized and called themselves 'The International Old Lacers', this lace form has been kept alive in its traditional forms together with its tools and materials. It is to this group and in particular to a wonderful and patient teacher, Mrs. Gertrude Biedermann, to whom I am indebted for the sharing of her years of knowledge and resources with me through her teachings of both the simplicities and many intricacies of this lace form.

As contemporary expressions using Bobbin Lace techniques have barely scratched the surface in areas of creative textile crafts, this book is geared to the textile enthusiast who would like to learn the basic techniques, develop his own language in the use of them and finally explore the potential of this art form.

The step by step instructions, photographically illustrated, are aimed at making the motions simple enough so as to become second nature as you proceed to explore their many variations.

The chapters that follow offer simple and useful projects to aid you in your explorations as well as more advanced techniques - based on my own affair with Bobbin Lace.

THEY DON'T WEAR THEM ANY MORE

Pawtucket, R. I.: "The American Textile Co. plant here will close June 30 because fewer women are wearing lacy underwear.

J. Arthur Oakland, vice-president of the firm which manufactured lace said yesterday the closing was caused by the new trends in women's fashions.

He said 99 per cent of the lace made at the plant was used as trim on women's lingerie.

However, he said, most women are no longer wearing those items because of the shift in style to panty hose, hot pants, body suits and pant suits."

The following verses as remembered by Pat Harris are shared in remembrance of Miss E. Lolita Eveleth

When all is done, and my last word is said,
And you who love me murmur, "She is Dead"
Weep not for me for fear that I should know
And sorrow, too, that you should sorrow so.

When all is done, say not my day is o'er,
And, that through the night, I seek a dimmer shore,
Say rather, that my day has just begun.
I greet the dawn, and not the setting sun.
When all is done, May the road rise to meet you,
May the wind be always at your back,
May the Sunshine be warm upon your face.

And, until we meet again,
May God hold you in the palm of his hand,
When all is done.

Sorrow not, but believe when a drop of rain will fall, it is my tear of joy, to see you go ahead and make my fondest wishes come true.

NOTES on VANCOUVER CONFERENCE, May 23, 1973
Members attending the Northwest Conference next Spring, will enjoy the pleasure and privacy of a complete dormitory at the University.

Some planning to attend are Martha Anderson, Gertrude Reiderman, Pat Harris. -- Club vice president, Muriel Mitchell, will give a talk to Lakers and Weavers who are interested. -- Pat Harris is making a lamp for the conference but will also have several handkies and some yardage, English bobbins and her mounted laces for exhibit.

Mr. Russel Groff will be there with linens and tools.

The above original bobbin lace design by Mrs. Mary McPeek of Ann Arbor, Michigan is printed in green across the top of white note paper (lace Christmas Tree) or in white on blue vellum, at bottom of a folded note (sail boats) and is available from her:

10 notes and 10 envelopes are $1.00

BRAGGINS EXPANDS

LACE HISTORY FROM BRAGGINS OF ENGLAND
(Items from "Bedfordshire Times")

May 12, 1972

Braggins of England, expanded this year into a large new addition, after nearly 100 years in business. In the very beginning Mr. Archibald Braggins traveled about in 'pony and trap' collecting up Bedfordshire Lace from the houses around the county where it was produced. Linen and thread were given in part payment and the lace sold in the shop, and they think today they are the only shop selling Bedfordshire lace.

They have a fine collection of old bobbins, not for sale; made of Ivory, bone or various types of wood that were used in the production of lace. Bobbins are difficult to find these days. A few years ago Mr. Braggins had a mould cast for a bobbin and the firm have since sold 60,000 plastic bobbins to all parts of the world.

Today, in the lace department are all the items needed for lace-making...lace materials, threads, bobbins, pillows and prickings.

In early days bobbin lace prickings were generally made of pig skin. Braggins' still have a few of these in their collection of items connected with the Bedfordshire Lace Industry...also not for sale.

Quite a lot of schools are going in for lace-making these days, so the art which has such a long history in Bedfordshire might be due for something in the way of a rebirth after dwindling almost to extinction in recent years.

BEGINNERS' BOBBIN LACE PATTERNS

In the May 1972 bulletin, page 84, Mrs. Price of England announced she recently had printed some simple lace patterns; they consist of:

3 borders and 1 insertion (bobbin lace)

2 handkerchief borders with corners

These are for sale at 40p each and she asked if anyone on the American side would be willing to accept a quantity of these patterns to fill orders here. Mrs. Muriel Mitchell has offered to be responsible for this, so please send your orders for Mrs. Price's prickings to Mrs. Muriel Mitchell, 3795 Trinity Street, Burnaby 2, B.C. Canada

LACE TERMS

Applique.-The filling or ornamental work introduced into enclosed spaces.

Arch.-Either needlework or bobbin lace in which the pattern is made separately and sewed onto a net ground.

Bead Edge.-Another name for beading, which is the simple binding on pillow lace.

Bobbin.-Small elongated reels, either wooden or bone, on which thread is wound for the purpose of making lace. Oftentimes they are weighted with such articles as beads, coins, seeds, etc.

Bride.-Either Claire or Bar.-Small strips used to connect the parts of a design and employed instead of a groundwork of net. They consist either of threads overcast with buttonhole stitches or of twisted or plaited threads.

Cordonnet.-The thread used to outline the design in lace. Sometimes it consists of a single thread, other times of several threads worked together, and again, of a thread or horsehair overcast with buttonhole stitches.

Couronnement.-The cordonnet is sometimes ornamented with stitches known as couronnens. The English form of this term is crowns.

Dentelle.-A French term meaning a scalloped border.

Engrelure.-The edge of a lace by which it is sewed on the material it is to decorate. Same as heading or footing.

Entoilage.-The French term for a plain mesh ground.

Entre-deux.-The French term for insertion, whether of embroidery or lace.

Filling.-These are fancy stitches used to fill in enclosed spaces in needle-point and bobbin laces.

Fond.-The groundwork of needle-point or bobbin lace as distinguished from the pattern. Other names for it are champ, entoilage, reseau, and treille.

Gimp.-The pattern of lace which rests on the ground or is held together by bride. It is not the same, however, as the material gimp, which was formerly called guipure.

Ground.-Two forms of ground are found in laces: the bride and the reseau. The bride ground consists of bars that connect the ornaments forming the pattern. The reseau ground is a net made either with the needle or with bobbins.

Guipure.-Formerly, a lace-like trimming of twisted threads. Now, it is applied to all laces having a tape-like appearance, or to them.

Insertion.-Stripes of lace or embroidered muslin or cambric on which both edges are alike.

Jour.-Ornamental devices found in various parts of lace. In Venetian point lace, jours are introduced in the center of the flowers.

Mat or Math.-The closely worked portion of a lace, the sole.

Passamento.-The pricked parchment pattern upon which both needle-point and bobbin laces are worked.

Pearls or Purl.-Bars or brida.

Pearl Edge or Purl Edge.-A narrow edge consisting of projecting loops and sewed to lace as a finish.

Picot.-Tiny loops worked on the edge of a bride or cordonnet or used to beautify a flower, as in the case of rose point.

Pillow Lace.-Bone lace, or bobbin lace, made on a pillow by twisting or plaiting the threads with bobbins.

Point Lace.-Properly, only lace made with the point of a needle, needle-point lace. However, the term is often misapplied, numerous laces, such as Point d'Angleterre and Honiton point being made with bobbins and not with the needle.

Point de Rocroi.-A stitch used to join reseau ground.

Point Plat.-A French term for flat point lace having no raised cordonnet or outline cord.

Prick.-A short instrument with which holes are pricked in the pattern used for bobbin lace.

Reseau.-Ground of small, regular meshes made both on the pillow and with the needle.

Sampler.-Small samples showing patterns of lace. They originated in the 15th century when not every one could buy pattern books because of their scarcity and high price. They were also used to show the skill of the worker.

Spring.-A detached piece of lace which is applied to a net foundation or joined with other springs, by means of bars.

Tie.-Like bars, ties are the connecting threads worked across spaces in needle-point and bobbin laces.

Toile.-The substance of the patterns of lace as distinct from the ground.

Treille.-Another name for the ground or reseau of lace as distinguished from the pattern which they surround.

CHANTILLY LACE

Detail of a Chantilly lace stole, bought in Belgium, by Gladys Reese, of Ann Arbor, Michigan and Sarasota, Florida. Chantilly is bobbin lace characterized by fineness of ground, light, open-work flowers, and thick, silken threads outlining the pattern. Stole is pictured full length, with a yard stick for comparison of size, on page 27.

NOTE: Please insert this issue of the bulletin into the cover for the year, to keep all lace news together for reference.
The Ann Arbor Lacers have meetings when one of us finds something special to share. On August 3 we really did have something very special when Susanna Lewis of the Metropolitan New York Branch visited her mother in Ann Arbor. We were invited to see their wall hanging of family lace and to meet Susanna and hear about her work.

The hanging was made to fit an 11 foot panel above the living room fireplace and was so sturdy constructed that it could be brought down to a long table where we examined it closely. Family memorabilia were incorporated into the design with a dagerreotype of a great, great grandmother who made some of the pieces, as well as labels and explanatory notes written by a great aunt and grandmother. We look forward to seeing pictures of some other lace wall hangings she has made and hearing how she has fitted them to the situations of her clients.

It was good to hear about the forming of the Metropolitan Branch of I.O.L. and its plans for some exciting programs.

Interest in one facet of lace often leads to another, so we also saw some pieces of lace that Susanna has recently found in Michigan. But this still wasn't all; she is learning to make bobbin lace and brought her pillow and lessons for us to see. Her bobbins reproduced from some in the Luton Museum in Bedfordshire are positively charming.

Since no one, not even our two new members, comes empty-handed to the meetings, we were able to reciprocate a little. Things for sharing included a letter about incorporating lace with glassblowing, lace articles in two popular magazines, some old lace, wide lace in the making on a Danish pillow, Spanish bobbins made from Olive twigs and two dainty handkerchiefs of exquisite workmanship from Madrid.

Each meeting ends with a to-be-continued atmosphere. -- Mary McPeek

"Sager to report that the beginning class in bobbin lacemaking at Henry Ford's Greenfield Village materialized and the students are progressing more rapidly than I had expected" -- Mary McPeek

From: Irvington, New York October 14, 1972

"Our group is meeting at the Metropolitan next Friday (the 20th) and I am most grateful to you for reminding me of the Russian Exhibit because I definitely want to see it. We are having a lecture in the Textile Dep't on lace and hopefully will be shown some of their famous collection.

I am taking Bobbin Lace lessons from Gunvor Jorgensen and enjoying it tremendously. We have already recruited several new members for the I.O.L. --

I talked to Peter Grey, Marian Powys's son, shortly after she died and at his suggestion wrote the publishers of her book to ask for a reprint. To:

Mind Pattern of Pillow Lace
written by Virginia E. J. Funk
September 1, 1972 - Columbine Branch

The pillow adjusted,
The bobbins threaded,
The pattern line attached with pins;
In review are materials needed:
The thread a personality has -
Hands of brawn -
Brows wet with sweat -
Have twisted it from flaxes and silks.
Even when warmth was but a "dicky-pot".
The flax was planted from seed.
Tempered in heat and cold,
Watered and fed by the sun,
Cultivated and carded by the life industry of people.
The seed was created by God.
Silk spun by the weaver
Started from a worm
Protected by man
After its creation,
Warmed and fed in soil and by sun.
Then came the science of invention,
The mechanical machines
With warp, flax, gimp, silk and nylon.
Spins and weaves and dyes
In hues as radiant as the colors of the rainbow,
And touches of lacy frost and snow.
With fingers of love
The thread in need of design
Is fastened in bobbins and shuttle,
Placed and carved by trained nimble fingers of cabinetry.
Then the pins, set in parchment pattern,
with pompadours in centre;
Voices chanting aloud, "Lucy Locket lost her pocket,"
How many pins to be done; "Kitty Fisher found it."
Focus your picture design;
"Twenty miles have I to go",
"Nineteen miles have I to go",
"Eighteen miles have I to go",
For delicate lace-
A "glum" of enforced silence,
Stick in pin to form intricate design,
Man again with nimble hands:
engineered a tool of steel.
Holding the parchment pattern
the pins stand guard,
Interlacing rhythm, two pairs swaying as the world passes side to side.
Craft bobbins, odds and evens, weaving
in, over, under and out,
Forming turn pins in toile or plaiting.
Gracious people with gentle fingers guide the design.
Likened to the creator's plan,
He wove the intelligence of mind
To give his many gifts to men.
From these we mentally do as He did.
We take the softness of a cloud,
The leaves swaying in the breeze,
The bird in winged flight,
The flower in unfolded velvety petal,
The face with a tear broadening to laughter;
We search for the hurts, the rents,
the tears,
The stout, the strong, the weak,
the mild,
The temper tantrum; perhaps the bizarre.
Maybe it forms the knots
That gracefully cascade to the border of the tangled
Spidery maltese web pattern,
Plaits and honeycomb fillings
My nimble fingers weave.
My lacy pattern-
lovingly completed on the pillow it lies.
Without the gracious people,
Without the cooling breeze,
Without the sparkling smile,
Without the temper tantrum,
Without the tear drop,
Without the floating clouds,
Without the spirit of love,
Without God,
No heavenly pattern would there be.

These two laces are from Page 76 of Mrs. Sina Kielberg's book, "Lær at Kniple".

This picture, taken in the summer of 1972 in the yard of Holbaek Museum, Holbaek, Denmark shows Mrs. Kielberg wearing an authentic old national costume from Seeland with a lace cap. The pillow lace box, bobbins and parchment pattern which she is using date back to 1840 and are from Tonder, Denmark.

Mrs. Kielberg, who has made bobbin lace for fifty years, has taught bobbin lace making for twenty years. She is author of the book, "Lær at Kniple". ("Learn to Make Bobbin Lace")
