A Word from the Editor

My trip to England, Scotland, Switzerland and Sweden this year, or I should say this past month was in many ways a very rewarding one, in some ways very discouraging, and yet well worthwhile.

First of all, I did find some bargains in yarns, but not nearly anywhere as many, as I was able to find last year. I was able to locate a small lot of some 200 lbs. of a nice silk, at double the cost of what it was last year. This is still below the regular selling price though, as silk has almost doubled in cost this past year also. And, I did find a good lot of about 1,000 lbs. of a single ply, homespun type yarn, in heather blends, which I think will be very pleasing.

However, on the discouraging side is the tremendous cost of all raw materials now. I found that silk, wool, linen, and combinations of this had all increased as much as 100% or more since last year. Let me give you an example. We were selling our 39 colors of 2/18's worsted at $6.80 per lb. Our last shipment, we had to raise the price to $8.00 per lb., and now we have 1600 lbs. of this due in here any day, and it will now cost us about $8.00 per lb. delivered here. So, we have decided to compromise and sell these at $9.60 a lb., and this is about 20% mark-up, and then with what we have left, we hope it to be an average cost, and we will try and coast along on this for about a year, and hope that the cost goes down, so when we re-order, we can get it at a more realistic price.

One of the good things to report is the fact that I took several books with me to see about getting them reprinted, and we think that we will be able to have about 4 or 5 out of the seven reprinted in fairly small quantities and yet not too costly. So, there is always some good to be found, along with the bad.

And have travel expenses increased. With our two devaluations of the American dollar (20%) and with 10% per year inflation in Switzerland and Sweden in the living costs, you can see that the travel costs in Europe are now about 35% to 40% more than last year. Really, we in America do not know how good we do have it, even with all current problems. I honestly feel that in everyday living expenses, that we get more for our dollar here in America, than in any other country. And you know, after you are away for 40 days, it is a nice feeling to come home.

And the experience of attending the 10 days of summer school at Winchester, England was well worth the trip. It is one of the most inspiring things when you see 100 or more weavers get together and work hard for a 10 day period. In this workshop, I did quite a bit of sampling of leno weaves, and we hope to bring you one of these during the coming year. When at school, classes opened at 8:30 in the morning. You could come and start earlier if you wished. And for about 7 of the 10 days, the classes continued on until 9:30 at night, if you did wish to work after dinner. And I did one sample of a rug, that I hope also to share with you sometime during this coming year.

Let me give you one more example of what happened with devaluation of the American dollar. We stock the 6/4 dark grey or raw linen rug warp from Switzerland. Last year, they had a large quantity of raw material, and the company asked if they could spin it all up, and if I would guarantee to take it all over a period of time. They did this, and I took 500 lbs. last year, and agreed to take the remaining 500 lbs. this year. I paid $2.40 per lb. last year, and agreed to take the remaining 500 lbs. this year. I paid $2.40 per lb. last year, plus the shipping, duty, and broker fees, and shipping here in the states. I wanted to purchase the remaining 500 lbs., and I did order it. However, this year, it cost us $3.00 per lb., because of the devaluation, and actually, the Swiss company is not making more money on it, but getting the same value in Swiss Francs.
as they did last year. It is because of the devaluation of our dollar that we have this price increase. And actually, we were lucky to have agreed to take all of the linen, because if they had had to spin it again this year, the raw material would have cost 50% more, and it would have ended up costing about $4.00 per lb. So you can see the problems of importing threads.

And yet, it has been a good thing for us, and we have found many items over the years that we could not get here in the states.
However, I think that we have been spoiled by the prices in the past, and will now have to pay more for everything.

Will tell you more later about the school in England, when we feature the sample planned there.

This Month’s Book Review:

This month I want to tell you about an extra nice book that I located in England this sumer. Actually I located it in Scotland, and and it is entitled, “OUR SCOTTISH DISTRICT CHECKS.” and it was written by E. S. Harrison.

What is exceptional about this book is the fact that there are 106 half page or full page color plates of the different district checks described in the book. So, with this book as a guide, you can duplicate these checks with ease.

The pictures are excellent, large close-ups, and show the thread count in the warp and weft very well. And besides the excellent photographs, there is a description underneath each of the pictures, giving the name, a little where the check is found, a description of the colors used, and more details, such as number of threads of each color, the weight of the finished fabric and other related details. The description length varies with each of the district checks, and I think that you will enjoy this.

Then there is an excellent section with a description of the checks, which includes some of the history, the reason for their being made as they are, and details as to threads used etc.

And the best part of all is yet to come. This book was printed to sell for 5 Guineas in Scotland, which is 5 lbs. and 5 schillings. The total cost in U. S. dollars according to their cost is $13.50, in Scotland. But our price is less.

HOWEVER, DUE TO A LARGE PURCHASE OF THESE BOOKS, We were able to purchase some 500 of them at a reduced price, and so we are able to offer them now at a price of $8.95 per copy plus postage and insurance. ($9.50 total)

This is a hard bound book, which was published by the National Association of Scottish Woollen Manufacturers, for the use of the different manufacturers in their businesses.
This book was published in 1968, and they are all in perfect condition.

You’ll really enjoy this one.

This is the first book to be devoted to the private cloth designs known as “District Checks,” and it is this name which distinguishes them from tartans. The author is the leading authority on these tartans, and are an important part of the Scottish Heritage.

Mr. Harrison the Author, says that all of the illustrations are meticulously accurate and that many of them were taken from cloth samples woven under his own supervision.

A Companion Booklet to This Book

While running her hand-weaving studio in Pasadena, California some years ago, Mary E. Snyder became interested in the Scottish district checks, and she compiled a booklet, titled “SCOTTISH DISTRICT CHECKS.” She also worked with Mr. E. S. Harrison, and eventually wove, and compiled the complete details for the weaver for 91 checks with complete directions, the sets, and details about the yarns used. This is strictly mimeographed with no pictures, but the necessary details for the handweaver are all here. These sell for $2.00 plus postage. I think it is an excellent work to go with the hard-bound books with the beautiful color photographs.

This interesting fabric is done in a crackle weave, and would have many uses, such as upholstery, suit material, drapery, and many, many other uses.

END OF ONE COMPLETE PATTERN REPEAT. Treadle over and over as desired.

COST OF THE THREADS USED:

Our warp and tabby thread of 20/2 Egyptian cotton is $7.00 per lb., comes on 1/2 lb. tubes, and is on spools of 4200 yards each. It has 8400 yards per lb.

And the rayon chenille in the 4 colors is quite a good price at $4.00 per lb. It has about 1,000 yards per lb., and is called 8 cut rayon chenille. We do have about 10 different colors of it on hand.

It is very hard to come by the chenille, and we cannot find anyone who has a standard line of it, so we just purchase the odd lots as they become available. Oh yes, the chenille is mostly on cones of about 14 to 18 oz. per cone, and we do have 3 colors of it in skeins of about 6 to 8 oz. per skein.

COST OF FABRIC:

We had a 12 yard warp, 40" wide on the loom, and it took 1 lb. 7 oz. of the 20/2 aztec Egyptian cotton for the warp. Thus the total warp cost was $10.06 for the 12 yard warp or the cost per yard was 84¢ per yard.

In the weft, we had 10½ yards or about a couple inches less than 10½ yards. It took approximately 1 lb. 11 oz. of each of the 4 colors of chenille for the 10½ yards of weft. Thus, it took 6 oz. 12 oz. of chenille at $4.00 per lb., or $27.00 for the 10½ yards of weft. And for the tabby, we used 15 oz. of the size 20/2 Old Gold Egyptian Cotton. Thus the total weft cost was $33.56 or the cost per yard was $3.20 per yard for the weft.

WARP COST PER YARD, 40" WIDE _______ .84 WEFT COST PER YARD, 39" WIDE _______ 3.20

MORE ABOUT THE FABRIC:

We made three different samples before we tried 24 threads per inch, and we finally decided that 24 per inch showed the chenille to its best advantage. Thirty threads per inch was a little too close, although we will show you a later fabric with heavier threads in the warp, and it is also sett at 24 per inch.

Another minor problem with this type of fabric is that we found that with the 20/2 cotton at 24 per inch, the chenille tends to pull in more, just like a wool yarn, so we did use a temple or stretcher on the whole fabric. We found that we gained about "2" inches in the width by the use of this, without a single broken thread in the warp. It seems as though the wool pulls in about the same amount as the chenille does, so we normally do use a stretcher or temple when we are using either of these threads as the main weft thread. Of course, it also depends upon how close or tight your warp thread is, as to how much it will pull in on the selvage edges.

You want to use a firm, even, but not heavy beat, and I would even recommend that you beat, change the shed to the next shed, open, and beat again before throwing the next shuttle.

Really, the only problem in the weaving of this fabric is that of having 5 weft threads and 5 shuttles. However, if you set a bench beside your loom, or have a bench with a drawer that opens, you can systematically use the correct one, and have no problems in the weaving. However, if you are not systematic and organized in your weaving, you might have problems in remembering the color sequence.

This Month’s Cover Photograph

I was particularly intrigued with this piece which I saw on display at Vancouver, Canada, at the Pacific Northwest Weaving Conference this past summer.

This piece was on display at Eaton’s department store, and was one of many pieces from an travelling exhibition of the Guild of Canadian Weavers. I do not know much about the detail of the threads in this fabric, but this does show so much what one can do with especially designed threads which can also be handspun, and it was for this reason that I wanted to show you this picture. Not only is the thread itself interesting (the white one), but the pattern arrangement is quite attractive, and the white thread is set off by a dark or black background, which also enhances the slubby threads.

Perhaps someone might write and give me more details about this photo and we will be able to share the details with you in a future issue.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO HELP CO-PUBLISH A BOOK?

We at Robin & Russ Handweavers, have an option on republishing an outstanding handweaving book, which is now out of print. It was a very good seller when in print, and should continue to be a good seller.

We have some problems, and the main one is financing the republication of this book, and so we wonder if anyone might be interested.

This book has 16 full page color plates, and many interesting patterns.

We have received the republishing rights from the publisher, and got them to agree to do the job for us, if we can work out the details.

We have arranged for the proper royalties with the author of the book, and have all the details worked out.

Going still further, we can publish as little as 3,000 copies, up to 6,000 copies. We can save about $2.00 per copy by having 6,000 copies published.

The main problem is financing it, and we would like to try and find someone who might be interested in going in with us.

We can handle the marketing and the selling of this book after it is published, so other than furnishing us with the capital, the main portion of the work would be done by Robin & Russ Handweavers, once the book is published.

With all of these details, we hope to find someone that might be interested, and have them contact us, so we can go into further details.

WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE A CO-PUBLISHER WITH US? Please do let us hear from you, if you are interested.
