

Common Positive Feedback — Tick All That Apply

Dude, totally excellent talk! Awesome!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, I loved how you connected your topic to the “big picture!”	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, I actually wanted to listen to what you were saying — you made a boring topic seem interesting!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, I loved your ideas on how the paper could have been improved!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, I loved your examples! So much easier to understand a 10-line code sample than slides of text!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, I loved your figures! So much easier to understand than slides of text!	<input type="checkbox"/>

Common Negative Feedback — Tick All That Apply

Dude, you talk waaaay too fast!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, like there’s too much stuff on your slides!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, I couldn’t hear what you were saying! Speak up, yo!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, practice your talk next time, will ya!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, talk to me, not the whiteboard!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, too much technical detail — I never got what was important about the paper!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, not enough detail - I learned like nuthin’, dude!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, what about your own opinions? You never said what was good/bad about the paper!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, who are you? You never introduced yourself!	<input type="checkbox"/>
Dude, what paper were you talking about? You never introduced the paper or the authors!	<input type="checkbox"/>